

Derek V. Price, Ph.D. is the principal owner of DVP PRAXIS LTD, a national leader in strategic thinking for institutional transformation and systems change, especially the use of data-driven strategies to improve program and organizational effectiveness. Dr. Price previously held the position of director of higher education research at Lumina Foundation for Education, and was assistant professor of sociology at Morehead State University. He received his doctorate in sociology from American University, and holds a master's degree from the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor and a bachelor's degree from Duke University.